C. OF C. TEAMS WORKING DETERMINEDLY FOR QUOTA

Hot Rivalry Between Divisions A and B— Talks by Mayor, William Turck, Secretary Hudson and Others' Enthusiased Meeting at Y. M. C. A.

Planning for the Better Things

With Secretary Hudson's motto— "For Kingston—ringing in their minds, the generals, captains and workers in the Chamber of Commerce membership campaign left the Y. M. C. A. last night fully determined to leave no stone unturned or prospective member unsecured until at least 500 people had signed up to co-operate in making this a bigger, better and more beautiful Kingston. The workers were inspired and filled with enthusiasm by snappy, peppery, up-to-the-minute talks by Secretary Hudson, Mayor Palmer Canfield, general of Division A, William Turck, general of Division B, Francis L. Thornberry, chief of staff of the drive, and Joseph M. Branton, manager of the Van Wagenen store, a new comer in this city. Their remarks were pertinent. They made it plain that if Kingston is to be alive, that if this city is to grow industrially, commercially and socially, the Chamber of Commerce must be given the undivided support of every man, woman and child in the community. By their attitude and spirit, the workers gave every evidence last night that they are going to put their shoulder to the wheel and push, not stopping until every objective is gained.

That there would be a rivalry between Division A and B in the drive was expected, but that Mayor Canfield, general of the forces under the "A" banner would be as defiant in throwing down the gauntlet at the feet of "General" William Turck, commander of Division B came as a surprise. Mayor Canfield stated that he would not challenge Division B, but that he dared and defied the members of that division to beat Division A. "If they do," said the mayor, "I will be the proudest one in this hall on the night that the reports are made." The mayor declared that Division A was determined to secure 50 per cent of the goal and that if Division B succeeded in beating this record, he would be proud because it would mean that the Chamber of Commerce had come "to the top" in the membership.

Following a conference of the captains and a special meeting of the Flying Squadron, the initial meeting of the workers opened with a luncheon in the parlors of the Y. M. C. A. After the serving of the "treaties" during which time Mr. Thornberry led in the singing of several popular songs, Joseph M. Herbert, president of the Chamber of Commerce, called the workers to order to prepare them for the drive which opens this morning. Mr. Herbert presented Sidney Hudson, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, as the first speaker. In presenting the secretary Mr. Herbert said:

"Last year there came to Kingston a young man, who since by his earnest, energetic and sincere work has won the esteem and regard of all with whom he came in contact. He has steadily worked for the betterment of the organization, and it was my great pleasure to present Sidney Hudson, our secretary."

Before Mr. Hudson could speak, a call for "three cheers for Hudson" was made. When the cheer was made, Mr. Hudson thanked the workers for the greeting, stating that he hoped Kingston would be as much as the "City of the Future" as it was the "City of the Past." He said that the first thing he did when he came to Kingston was to look at the city and see what it was like. He said that he had seen many cities, but that he had never seen one like Kingston. He said that he had seen many cities, but that he had never seen one like Kingston. He said that he had seen many cities, but that he had never seen one like Kingston.

Mr. Hudson also spoke of the success of Dress-Up Week, the Chamber of Commerce light for three shipping days on local freight instead of two as heretofore, the publicity given the automobile show by the chamber and the fire prevention drive. Everything which makes Kingston a better place to live in, to work in and to play in, is of interest to the Chamber of Commerce, he said. The organization, he said, had worked hand in hand with the municipal authorities, Rotary Club and Automobile Club in attaining the building of the Rondout bridge. He promised that the chamber would keep after the harbor canal terminal, and despite Governor Smith's veto was of the opinion that some recourse was left. Mr. Hudson also assured the workers that the Chamber of Commerce would keep after the West Shore Railroad until a station worthy of the city had been erected. He also called attention to the co-operation given the municipal authorities in devising some scheme to eliminate the Broadway crossing.

"The Chamber of Commerce," he said, "is the board of directors of the city. I want to say that few organizations have as able a president as Joseph Herbert. The board of directors has attended more meetings than you know of. Every man in the Chamber of Commerce has a definite part to play. We can't be satisfied to go along in a small way. We can't run the Chamber of Commerce on $5,000 a year. We must have more revenue. The Chamber of Commerce is his business, and it costs more to handle its work, because we haven't enough to carry on the work right. We must have twice or three times the present revenue."

In closing Mr. Hudson pointed to the street wealth lying at Kingston's doors. With the mountains, the railroads, the river, the parks and the bathing beaches, he said that this city has more than any summer resort. (Continued on Last Page)

MOSSER TALKS TO WORKERS TONIGHT

Chamber of Commerce Teams Will Make First Report—Meetings to End Before 8 O'clock.

The meeting of the workers in the Chamber of Commerce campaign at the Y. M. C. A. building this evening at 6:30 sharp promises to have all the "Zip, Zip, Zip" which is expressed in one of the favorite songs of Song Leader Francis Thornberry. The teams will make their first report and there is every prospect that they will have something interesting and worth while to report.

The speaker of the evening will be George H. Mosser, of Trenton, N. J. Mr. Mosser has served with great success as secretary of the Chambers of Commerce in Altoona, Pa., Newark, Ohio and Trenton, N. J. He has also made a record as an inspiring and forceful speaker. He will be very much worth while hearing.

The meeting tonight will start promptly at 6:30 and will be finished before 8 o'clock. This statement is made without qualification and will be adhered to as unalterably as the laws of Medes and Persians.

Speakers have already been secured for the meetings on Wednesday and Thursday. These speakers also will fully maintain the high standard which is being set.

JURY FINDS HIDE THIEVES GUILTY

Mason Basch and Louis Sampson Fined $50 Each and Sentenced to 30 Days in Jail—Jail Sentence Suspended—Other Cases.

After a trial before Judge Schirck and a jury in police court Monday evening the jury brought in a verdict of guilty in the case of Mason Basch and Louis Sampson, a negro, charged by Roach Brothers with stealing six hides from their warehouse on Ann street. Judge Schirck imposed a fine of $50 each, which was paid, and also a jail sentence of 30 days. The jail sentence was suspended, pending good behavior. Judge William D. Brininger, Jr., represented Roach Brothers, while Frank W. Brooks appeared for Basch, and Chris Flanagan for Sampson.

The arrest of the two men had created considerable talk down town and that evening the court room was crowded by those interested in the outcome of the case. In brief the evidence was that Roach Brothers have been missing hides, and became suspicious of Sampson and Basch. Sergeant Phinney was notified and caught Basch driving away with a barrel of entrails in which were hidden six hides. He immediately arrested Basch and also Sampson. The police believed that Sampson placed the hides in the barrel and that Basch was to sell them.

Basch's main defense was that he did not know there were any hides in the barrel. The jury, however, did not believe him.

Traffic Cases.

While Officer Walker is enjoying his vacation his place on the motorcycle is being taken by Officer Soper, who on Monday afternoon arrested Benjamin Berkowitz on a charge of speeding. He paid a fine of $5.

Louis Grossman, charged with speeding at 37 miles an hour, had his case adjourned to Friday.

Harry Replansky, charged with running 26 miles an hour, left cash bail for his appearance later in court.

MICHAUD STARTS CITY HALL WORK

He Was Lowest Bidder and Was Awarded Contract to Make Proposed Alterations in City Hall—His Bid Was $2,586.

Charles J. Michaud, the contractor, started work this morning on the proposed alterations in the city hall. Recently the common council appropriated a sum not to exceed $2,600 to have the work done. His bid was $2,586. There were about ten bids submitted.

The contract calls for the erection of a private office and vault in the city court room for Judge Schirck, a hall room on the third floor of the city hall, and the removal of City Engineer Codwise's office from the lower floor to the third floor. The present city engineer's office will be used by the board of health. It is said that the board health office will be turned over to the police department, and that in time the suite of rooms on the Broadway side of the city hall on the lower floor will be used exclusively by the police department.

One Colored Jailbird Sings.

A warning to the public in general: There is only one Colored Jailbird singing in this county under the auspices of the Sunshine Club, an auxiliary to St. Mark's African Methodist Church of Poughkeepsie, organized by the pastor, the Rev. A. L. Hughes. According to the laws laid down in the book of discipline of the A. M. E. denomination this was done July 14th, 1918. For encouragement, address Rev. A. L. Hughes, 27 Janes avenue, Kingston, N. Y.

MISS HORTON MANAGER HOTEL TRIANON IN PARIS

Miss Sarah Horton, of Kingston, director of the Hotel Trianon, one of the two hotels maintained in Paris by the Y. W. C. A. for telephone operators of the Signal Corps and Mme. Moreaux, a French refugee at the devastated north, who is in charge of the hotel office. Miss Horton at the left.

Miss Sarah Horton of Albany avenue is making good in Y. W. C. A. work in France, and at present is at the head of the Hotel Trianon in Paris. The hotel boarders are the telephone operators making up a part of the big American exchange that the United States Signal Corps operates over there. Among the girls are two chief operators in charge of the exchanges at the American peace commission headquarters, and girls who have been on President Wilson's private switchboard.

The American Y. W. C. A. is maintaining homes, or hotels, for all the units of the Signal Corps girls on duty in France, and Miss Horton's hotel is one of the two similar Signal Corps hotels operated by the Y. W. C. A. in Paris. A part of her job is the ordering and purchasing of all supplies, arranging the meals, rooms and recreation for the girls.

At the desk in charge of the business and books is Mme. Moreaux, who came to Miss Horton from a devastated home in the war stricken north of France.

Before taking charge of the hotel Miss Horton was at Toul in the Y. W. C. A. hostess house. She is a graduate of St. Agnes School at Albany, and was a special war worker for the Y. W. C. A. at Laurel and Annapolis, Md., before going overseas. On her left sleeve she wears a silver triangle, the insignia for six months' service with a military welfare organization, as well as silver Fleur-de-lis, denoting service in the Paris zone of the army.

FORT EDWARD INSTITUTE. Reunion Attended by Alumni From Kingston.

The alumni of Fort Edward Institute held their reunion and banquet at Saratoga, Friday evening, June 13. Sixty or more were present. After an hour or two of renewing old acquaintances and forming new friends, the banquet was served at Elmwood Hall. Edward McGraw was re-elected president and Dr. James S. Cooley was re-elected secretary, with other officers and committees. The after dinner speakers were both witty and wise—some bringing up memories of the past, others peering into the future. Mr. and Mrs. Philip Elliott, Daniel B. Deyo, and Dr. and Mrs. P. N. Chase from Kingston were present. Dr. Chase and Mr. Elliot were among the speakers. It was voted unanimously to hold the 1920 meeting at Saratoga next summer, and owing to the great drought which is expected throughout the entire country, it would seem a very desirable place to hold it.

CHORUS OF PROTEST COMES FROM GERMANY'S LEADERS

Independent Socialist Haas Alone Sees Signing Possible Unless Allied Reply Makes Big Concessions—Rantau Reaches Weimar With Last Terms.

(Int'l. News Service Staff Correspondent.)

(Copyright, 1919, by the International News Service.)

Berlin, June 17.—"We won't sign!"

Stripped of all verbiage, these three words constitute almost without exception today the reply of Germany's leaders to the allied peace terms. While they have not yet been able to study the treaty after its final modification, party leaders and those of the national assembly were emphatic that the treaty will be rejected unless the allies meet the German counter proposals. It is among the national assembly which will unquestionably determine Germany's final answer that the loudest protests were being made today.

Count von Brockdorff-Rantau, head of the German delegates to Paris, reached Weimar this afternoon with the entente answer.

The course which the government will take in its consideration of the treaty was not announced officially, but it was believed it will be turned over as quickly as possible to the national assembly, which will sit as a body in its consideration.

Leaders interviewed today were members of the peace committee of the national assembly, before whom the treaty probably shall first come.

Their statements reflected the sentiment of their respective parties.

All leaders declared flatly that they would not sign with the exception of Dr. Hugo Haas, Independent Socialist leader, who said:

"The independent socialists are trusting to the international proletariat to nullify the provisions of the treaty."

Herman Mueller, president of the majority socialists declared:

"Unless the draft of the treaty has succeeded to sweeping modifications, it is not likely that it can be carried out. Hence it is unsignable. However, it is to be hoped that the Entente answer corresponds sufficiently to our counter proposals to allow signing."

A note of pessimism was dominant in the views of practically all the leaders.

"Signing is possible only if the Entente answer is in the frame of the German counter proposals," said Dr. Gustav Stresemann, president of the German's peoples party.

The size of the indemnity and the territorial concessions Germany will be forced to make were the principal items Dr. Stresemann objected to.

"Germany can only accept a peace which will take the counter-term as the maximum indemnity payable under any consideration; that will concede an immediate and unqualified plebiscite in the eastern districts and in the Saar region."

"Alsace and Lorraine must be allowed to determine themselves whether they will belong to any nation or become autonomous."

"Germany can sign no peace which will take away her merchant marine."

TROOPERS ROUND UP ROBBERS FIRE ALARM KEPT THEM GUESSING

Sheehan and Richter Cleaning Out Housebreakers From County—Pat Moran An Old Offender.

Sergeant Sheehan, and Trooper Richter of the state troopers have been busy a few weeks rounding up housebreakers and thieves in this and adjoining counties, and have arrested a few bad ones. A particularly bad one is Pat Moran, in jail for about two weeks, being held to await the action of the grand jury on a charge of larceny in the first degree. Moran is about forty years of age and has served about 18 years in jails and the Albany penitentiary. In varying sentences, and has also served time in a state prison. It is said: His latest trick was the stealing of bedding from a mill at which he was employed, valued at $1,000 but which was recovered before he had a chance to dispose of it, the mill being at Highmount in the town of Shandaken. It is thought he was connected with other robberies in the town of Shandaken. Two other thieves rounded up by Sergeant Sheehan and Trooper Richter are Fred Odell and Joseph Konnen, whose arrest in the town of Shandaken, was recorded in The Freeman last week. They stole household articles valued at $150 from the residence of Louis R. Seifert at Slide Mountain, and are awaiting the action of the grand jury on a charge of burglary in the third degree. Konnen and Odell are lumbermen and Konnen also may be connected up with some other robberies.

On June 11th, the State Troopers arrested Charles and Mary Lusk at Clarville, for robberies committed at the summer home of Jennie Snyder, in Sullivan county, twice. She is a school teacher in New York city. The first robbery was in August 1917, and they elected house the second time in August, 1918. The value of the booty taken is estimated at about $1,500, the greater portion having been recovered by Sergeant Sheehan. It was found in houses scattered over a great distance, some of it over at Arden, in Delaware county. Much of it was in homes of relatives of the Luskas, they bring husband and wife. The robberies, although committed from ten months to twenty-two months ago, were only reported to the State Troopers about two weeks ago. They were arrested after arrest before Justice of the Peace A. B. Dyer, at Clarville and held in arrest the action of the Sullivan county grand jury, on a charge of grand larceny in the first degree.

UNCLE SAM AIDS DISABLED MEN

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, June 17.—Just by way of illustrating what the federal board for vocational education is doing for our wounded boys, take this case which is one of thousands who are being helped to overcome their handicaps.

Away back early in the war one of the boys got a frightful wound in the leg and was carried to the hospital half crazy with the pain. After the other effects had passed, he was told that his right leg had been taken off just five inches below the hip. "Were they to let his mother know, or his father?" He shook his head. "You see he didn't happen to have any father or mother. In fact, it developed that there wasn't a single soul that that boy knew who would be interested to make life worth while for him, after he got back to his town with a wooden leg and a shattered future."

There were lots of complications too. He had been so anxious to get an education that he had borrowed the money to go through high school, because he had hopes of entering the banking business later on. With no right leg and no money, it looked for a while as though there wasn't any heart either to go on and fight it out. But it was there, and the only thing needed to discover it was the exercise of a little intuition on the part of a special agent of the federal board for vocational education. These special agents are endowed with a kind of super sense. They know when a man has some possibility hidden away that even he himself doesn't know about. The possibility they found here was a good enough bet to stake a pretty fair sum of money on, and that is what the board did.

He was sent after his discharge to a commercial school, and completed a course in commercial subjects. And then the possibility didn't seem to be at an end, for he was found to have made such good progress that he was given a collegiate course in banking economics so that his field of activity could be considerably widened.

SELLING SHORT WEIGHT ICE

With a rise in the price of ice from 20 to 100 per cent, due to real shortage, owing to the mild winter of 1918-19, and to the increased cost of labor, it behooves every purchaser of ice to see to it that he or she receives full weight.

Already, the state bureau of weights and measures at Albany has received complaints from many cities that ice companies, through their drivers, are selling short weight ice. From one city alone two hundred complaints were received by the city weights and measures.

It should be borne in mind, however, by the consumer that the state bureau of weights and measures has no jurisdiction over price fixing, but the bureau is ready at all times to aid the people of the state in obtaining what is justly theirs, namely, sixteen ounces in every pound of any commodity purchased by avoirdupois weight.

Ice must be sold by weight and not by the chunk or piece, as so many drivers try to make their customers believe. To this end all purchasers of ice should provide themselves with a scale to reweigh and thus check up the amount received and paid for. Nine cases out of ten when a driver knows the customer is checking him up, he will take jolly good care to give full measure. However, should further trouble be experienced the matter should be called to the attention of the local official of weights and measures, or to Dr. Eugene H. Porter, commissioner of foods and markets, who will take it up through his bureau of weights and measures, and will be glad to see that the practice of short-weighting is stopped.

GLASCO.

Glasco, June 16.—Bright azure skies and balmy air gave promise of a rare June day for the wedding of Miss Myrtle Weeks, daughter of Mrs. H. H. Weeks of Glasco, and Raymond Diaz of Brooklyn, on Saturday at the Weeks homestead. The ceremony began at one p. m. in the presence of thirty or more invited guests, mostly relatives of the family. Rev. H. Thompson, pastor of the M. E. Church officiating. Just previous to the entrance of the bride party, Miss Loretta O'Brien of Brooklyn sang "O Promise Me" and followed with the Lohengrin wedding march as the bridal party entered the room and stood facing a bank of palms, ferns, potted plants and flowers in bloom. The bride was given away by her father Elwood Weeks of Brooklyn. The ring was used in plighting their troth. The bride was handsomely gowned in white chiffon satin and georgette crepe with bugle trimmings and a court train, and wearing a tulle veil held together with lilies of the valley. She carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses and lilies of the valley. Her only ornament was a diamond and platinum lavalliere, the gift of the groom. The bride's attendants were the Misses Gertie Van Wart and Vera Van Buskirk, the latter a cousin of the bride from Saugerties, each wearing pale blue satin and georgette crepe and carrying bouquets of pink tea roses. Bar pins were their gifts from the bride. Earl Weeks, a brother of the bride and Caleb D. Lenti were the groom's attendants, they wearing the conventional black, as did the groom.

Diamond stick pins were the groom's gifts to his attendants. There was a great variety of useful and ornamental wedding presents such as silver, cut glass, hand embroidered articles, table and bed linen and a check of generous size from the E. G. Long Company of New York, who employ Mr. Diaz as bookkeeper and export manager. Following the ceremony a buffet luncheon was served by Miss Mary Kenney of Kingston. The guests from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Weeks, and Mrs. Wellington O'Brien and daughter, Loretta of Brooklyn, and Mrs. George Boyce and Mrs. David Ebel of Kingston. The wedded couple left on the 5:40 p. m. train for an extended trip to Montreal, thence to Thousand Islands, the lake regions and Niagara Falls, the bride's traveling suit was dark blue serge and a black picture hat. They will reside in Brooklyn.

James C. Ferraro and Albert Morgan having served through the war and been honorably discharged, have arrived safely at home. Ferraro says while he was in France he received articles of clothing among which were nine pairs of socks, from the Red Cross at Saugerties, Ulster county, N. Y.

The strike of the brick barge captains has stopped all shipments of brick, but judging from late reports the situation promises an amicable settlement before many days.

Next Sunday evening Rev. B. M. Denniston of Saugerties will occupy the pulpit of the Glasco M. E. Church.

We were favored with a pleasant call from Capt. W. A. Beare of West Camp on Tuesday. Since selling his steamer Ursula the captain has become the happy possessor of a car, but his lesson in running it convinced him that there was some difference between the starting gear of a motor car and the wheel of a steamboat, when he landed in the ditch by the roadside. He now employs a chauffeur. Washburn Brothers have purchased a handsome new auto truck for delivering store goods.

MISS KOLB WON ICELESS COOLER

Her Menu Best in Opinion of Judges
—Those of Misses Vreeland and Sleight Honorably Mentioned.

Miss Edith R. Kolb, 124 Smith avenue, won the prize of an iceless refrigerator, offered by the Home Bureau, her menu receiving first place in the minds of the judges. Those receiving honorable mention were Miss Muriel Vreeland of Port Ewen, Anna M. Sleight, 185 Ten Broeck avenue—these taking second and third places as mentioned.

The committee of judges, Mrs. William Warren, president of Home Bureau, as chairman, Miss May E. Paris, domestic science teacher of the high school; Mrs. E. T. Shultis, Mrs. William E. Simmons and Mrs. W. C. Kingman, met at the Home Bureau office Monday afternoon at 4:30 to judge the menus sent in. There were a large number of entries in the contest and the committee worked diligently over each one. Many of the menus sent in were so very good that it was far from being an easy task to decide the one best one as only one prize was offered in this contest. Finally, at 6 o'clock the last consideration of the best menu was taken and Miss Edith R. Kolb's menu awarded first place in the contest.

MUSICAL PROGRESS

Shown By Advanced Pupils At Hummel Recital.

The recital given by the advanced pupils of Mr. and Mrs. Ford Hummel at the Elmendorf street Presbyterian Church last evening, was so admirably given throughout as to delight all real musicians present because of the excellent musicianship shown by the pupils.

The program opened with a pleasing piano number, "Maypole Dance" by Gurliit, played gracefully by Frieda Hayes. This was followed by another excellent piano number, "Narcissus," played admirably by Tessa Nichols.

Solomon Rudney showed marked progress in his violin playing over last year, in his performance of Danola's "Petite Etude Melodique." Calvin Cody measured up splendidly to the immensely difficult demands of the Kreisler "Fuge-Turini," his technique being exceptionally clean and fine.

The amount of temperance and the lightness and flustering speed with which Stanley Hummel played "La Pappillon" by Lavallo showed that his little lad is remarkably talented as a pianist. It was a particularly enjoyable number.

The "Ballade" by Danola, was played with exceptional smoothness and charm by David Schoenfeld. In the "Mazurka" by Danola, Maurice Baker produced an exceptionally round, full tone, the whole number being excellent.

One of the finest piano numbers was "The Cavaleria Fantasia" (March) by Godard, played in a very musically manner by Miss Ruth Dana.

Another very ambitious number was the Rachmaninoff "Prelude in C Minor," which Miss Dorothy Koch interpreted well, showing much technical ability.

With an ever increasing technique, the wonder and despair of all ordinary pupils, Earl Hummel played the beautiful "Praeludium and Allegro," by Pugnani, arranged by Kreisler, better than he has ever been heard to play before, which is saying a very great deal. As he acquires years and experience of life, Earl grows temperamentally and the spirit with which this work was played by the lad, was a further revelation of his gifts as an artist.

The exceptionally fine program closed with a string quartet, Op. 1, No. 3, by Haydn, played by Ford Hummel, first violin; Earl Hummel, second violin; Stanley Hummel, viola, and Gordon Burhans, cello. This beautiful composition opens with an appealing Adagio movement. The second movement, in the old minuet form, was full of quaint grace, while the third movement, "Presto," was swiftly spirited. Then came a fourth movement that was indeed charming, being another minuet, with special work for the cello and second violin. The quartet closed with a serious, yet vivid "Presto," elaborate but charming. So delightful was this quartet that it is to be hoped that these musicians will continue to favor Kingston with this form of music.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Hummel and their pupils are to be most cordially congratulated upon this, the finest pupils' recital yet given by them.

Frog's Remarkable Peculiarities.

In the manner of disposing of their eggs many species of frogs exhibit remarkable peculiarities. One of the most curious, a true frog, native of Paraguay, makes its nest in a bush overhanging a pond. The lower ends of a number of leaves are drawn together and fixed in that position by a number of empty egg-capsules. The eggs are also covered by a shield of empty capsules, to protect them from the sun and air. When the eggs are hatched the plug at the bottom appears to fall out and the tadpole tumbles into the water.

Sensitive to Light.

Recent experiments have demonstrated the degree of sensitiveness that plants exhibit toward light. Cress seedlings showed a distinct curvature after an exposure of only two seconds to a light of 200 candle power. The seedling the light the longer the time required to produce a reaction, but in an hour the seedling will curve toward the footlight illumined of light.

Quite a Difference.

"The think that but it is really," remarked Miss Pauline Frederick, in discussing a girl acquaintance, "that as a matter of fact it isn't really, it's merely unorganized." — Indianapolis Star.

CITY HALL IS NO FURNITURE SHOP

Secretary Linson of Board of Public Works Entertains Visitor Seeking Second Hand Furniture—She also Sought Advice.

"How much are you asking for these chairs?" asked a pleasant voice of Secretary Linson of the board of public works this morning, and as he glanced up from the column of figures he was totting, he saw an old lady carrying a big bag in one hand and mopping her forehead with a handkerchief with the other, while a smile hovered about her lips.

"What's that?" asked Secretary Linson, somewhat startled. "I am looking for second hand furniture," replied the little old lady pleasantly, "and these would just about suit me. That is, if you did not ask too much."

"This is the city hall," explained Secretary Linson, "and we don't sell furniture."

"I know it is," she replied cheerfully, "but I thought you might have some furniture to sell anyway."

"May I sit down for a spell and rest," she added.

"Certainly madam," replied Secretary Linson politely.

"Certainly a warm weather," continued the visitor as she vigorously fanned herself with an old newspaper. She added, "I live out at The Vly. Did you ever hear of it? My husband is kinder sickly and he has gone away visiting around with relatives, and I did not like to stay alone on the old homestead."

"Do you know where I could get a job at general housework?" asked she suddenly changing the subject. "I was thinking of keeping boarders, but they told me it was too hard work, and I might better get something easier to do. I have been married twice, and my husband has been married four times. I am the fourth."

"Is that so," said Mr. Linson, as she paused.

"My aunt was his third wife," she resumed. "The reason I came in to Kingston was to get some teeth. I look older than I really am because I lost my teeth some time ago. I can't get them before Thursday, so I thought I might as well stay in town until then, and visit around."

"Relatives here?" asked Mr. Linson, seeing that she expected a reply. "Well, I got a lot of acquaintances," she replied, "and I have been thinking while I am in the city hall here that I might get some advice about making my husband support me. I don't want him arrested, for he has been good to me, and then he is sick. That is the reason why he is visiting his folks."

"You'll have to see the justice of the town in which you live," replied Mr. Linson, as she glanced inquiringly at him.

"That so," she responded. "Well, I am much obliged for letting me sit, and I guess I will go now. Good bye."

"Goodbye," replied Secretary Linson, taking up his work again.

Patience Didn't Pay Here.

Down on Water street, August 16, the other day, two men met at the corner of the street and they both stepped to the outer edge of the walk to avoid two ladies whom they met. Both men said in chorus: "Patience me!" then both stepped to the left. When they met again both stepped to the right, then they both stepped still, and as one man turned to the right and extended his arms above his head as he flattened himself against the building, he said to the other man: "Say, when you get by, whistle." — Kenosha Journal.

Protect the Milk Snake.

The milk snake, instead of stealing the farmer's milk makes constant war upon rats who annually cost the country millions of dollars in the destruction of crops. They like to live under barns and garages, and can follow through a rat hole where a ferret wouldn't go, and eat the young rats. They eat meadow mice and field mice also.

TOY DOG HAS HIGH VALUE

Brussels Griffon, Practically Unobtainable Just Now, Is Likely to Become Popular Favorite.

The Brussels Griffon is popularly known as "the monkey-faced dog," and he is one of the brightest, sharpest and gamiest of all toy breeds. The Griffon is a cross between Irish terrier, Yorkshire terrier and Yorkshire spaniel and only the fortunes of war and the difficulties of getting any dog out of Belgium have prevented the Griffon from becoming a leader among the toy breeds that are so fashionable just now.

American breeders of Griffons have a bit of advantage over their European confreres, inasmuch as cropped ears are allowed to be shown in this country and there is no question that it does improve the appearance of this breed when the ears are carried erect.

The smaller these dogs are the more valuable. A Griffon weighing three or four pounds, that is to say, an animal that can be carried in a lady's muff, is worth almost anything the fortunate possessor wants to ask for him. At the present time it is almost impossible to obtain such a dog.

What Empties May Do.

When a large shell is fired into the air it leaves a wake more or less like that of a boat rushing through water, immediately behind the projectile is a moving mass of air which follows through the atmosphere there is a vacuum. The air family is a quick mover at filling such space, but of course it is more or less confused and illustrated by the unexpected arrival and passage of the projectile, and the vacuum is real for a fair portion of time. If there is an airplane going full tilt across the wake of that fired shell immediately behind the projectile, it must run into the vacuum. Then it may be more seriously damaged than if it had been struck by the shell. The air shuts to rather with a force that hurts all within reach. Such a clapping of the hands of air in a similar vacuum made by a bolt of lightning makes the thunder. It is better to hear it than to feel it. Airplanes have been brought down in the world war by that means. Those long American navy runs did that to a German two-seater plane, and it came crashing down into the Yankee lines. The pilot was dead.

The Outer Leaf Insect.

It is called the leaf insect, and until it starts to crawl it is quite impossible to tell where the leaf leaves off and it begins. It comes in all sizes from three inches long to the length of a little finger nail. And it is not a leaf insect to life, though that is what it looks like. It hatches out of tiny, square, brown eggs. What would be the leaf stem is its backbone, and the point where the leaf attaches to the twig is its head. Its legs look like bits of decayed and ragged leaf, and no two of them are identical in length, size or shape. Its wings are irregular and veined and have small discolored spots on them, as though they had been touched by early frost. You would not tell the creature from the leaf it is so skillful in its disguise. Most certainly, if you saw a leafy thing I ever saw it gave you the creeps and made me think of horror stories I have read about vampire orchids and haemodictor vines that yearn for human blood.—From "The War in the Cradle of the World," by Eleanor Franklin Egan.

Australia's Wool Crop.

For the first time the whole of the Australian wool clip has been valued on a scientific basis. Some 664,000,000 pounds have been handled, and the result, based on the all-round flat rate of 15 1/4 pence per pound, is said to be 14,664. Last season the approximate shows worked out at 14,154, which shows an increase for this season of 510 pence. The new clip has already commenced to move into Sydney, 3,333 bales having been received. Freight is still a problem and not much relief is in prospect, but some relief will be afforded by the government stores.

Business and Bureaucracy.

As in business where initiative is essential for success just so in bureaucracy is the exact reverse the case. Initiative involves a willingness to venture, to take a risk, to order to secure a desired end. An element of initiative is, therefore, possible. In bureaucracy a mistake, that is one of policy, is fatal in a career. This arrangement artificially places a premium upon the lack of initiative, so that to obtain his post, the government employee must either be completely devoid of that quality or submit to the ultimate disappearance from the service. Hence, it follows that with government based upon similar, the man in the highest post is the man with no mistakes to his record and, as a like corollary, no achievements either, nor, in the natural course of things, a possibility or any—New Republic.

Thou.

A man takes a short cut to poverty when he comes to believe that he has no talent for saving or making money. A man can, by patience, application and time acquire the ability to do almost anything for which by nature he has little taste or genius. At least, this is the principle upon which psychologists work, and to which innumerable men bear testimony. Human brain capacity can be modified so that a man can acquire the capacity to do that which previously was impossible. By faith in oneself talents may be multiplied. With faith one can eliminate the suffering and the cause of dependence, and the companionship of poverty. For thrift is not a gift of nature as much as a talent that may be developed.

Important Question.

A little boy of five was traveling south with his parents to visit an aunt whom he had never seen. He was very curious about this relative and asked his father and mother and the journey drew to its close the little fellow was amazed to see many strangers at every station. Suddenly a look of consternation dawned on his face and turning to his mother he said in a voice of alarm, "Mamma mamma, is a color as Aunt Jemima?" — Temple Globe-Democrat.

INVEST INTEREST IN W. S. S.

According to estimates by Treasury Department statisticians at Washington, D. C., approximately 4,500,000 persons will receive $38,655,377, this month, as interest for six months on First Liberty Bonds. This money falls due on June 15, after which date coupons for "firsts" may be cashed.

Attention of those who will profit by these interest coupons is called by the Savings Division of the treasury to War Savings Stamps, which pay four per cent interest, compounded quarterly. These government securities can be obtained at practically every bank. Holders of coupons can also exchange them at post offices for War Savings Stamps.

Investment of the interest money in War Savings Stamps is not only an excellent way of saving but helps the United States government, that still needs money with which to meet war bills and to pay for bringing back soldiers from France and the occupied territory of Germany. Funds invested in War Savings Stamps bring a higher rate of interest than is paid on First Loan bonds, which bring only three and one-half per cent. If all holders of First Loan coupons put their earnings in War Savings Stamps, the money thus reinvested with the United States treasury will net upwards of $7,000,000 by the time the popular small denomination securities mature, January 1, 1924.

The government is now paying more than $800,000,000 in interest annually on savings that were invested in war loans. That part which is paid as interest on First Liberty Loan bonds is paid on and after June 15, and December 15 of each year. The other interest months are, May and November, for the Second Loan; March and September for the Third Loan; April and October for the Fourth Loan, and June and December for the Fifth Loan.

Gem Society Outing.

The Gem Society of the Clinton Avenue Sunday school spent a very delightful day's outing near New Paltz at the "Nestle-down Cottage" the home of Miss Carley Ettell one of the members of the class on Saturday last. Twelve members were present and the day was spent in rustication around the many points of interest in that vicinity. Refreshments were served at intervals and a joyous time was enjoyed by all. Late in the afternoon the party returned to Kingston, where Miss Ettell a royal entertainer.

HERE AND THERE ABOUT THE TOWN

The Stroller Hears That if You Can't Boost, Don't Knock—It is Just as Easy to be a Booster as a Knocker and You Are Better Liked.

"Well, I see where the Chamber of Commerce is making a drive for memberships," remarked the customer as he dropped in the barber shop to have his hair trimmed.

"Yep," replied the busy barber, "and there is no reason why they shouldn't exceed the quota. Every city worth while has a worth while Chamber of Commerce organization."

"That's so too," conceded the customer thoughtfully.

"The great trouble with any town," continued the barber, "is the inhabitants. If they are not a live lot of boosters with an eye to the future development of the town how can you expect that town to grow?"

"Then you believe in boosting," interrupted the customer.

"I sure do," replied the barber. "I am making a living here and it is up to me to boost the town to my customers. I have found it a good rule that if you can't boost a thing, never knock it. It is just as easy to be a booster as it is to be a knocker, and the booster is better liked."

"You said something then," commented the customer.

"The great trouble, to my mind, with a lot of folks," continued the barber, "is the fact that they labor under the impression that a Chamber of Commerce is established for the purpose of going out and nabbing factory now and then and bringing it to town."

"Well," argued the customer, "I always thought that an organization was for that purpose."

"That is one of the reasons for the organization," conceded the barber, "but I don't believe a factory that can be nabbed over night is a worth while proposition."

"What is your idea, then?" asked the customer.

"To my mind," replied the barber, "a Chamber of Commerce is organized to develop the resources of the town and present its advantages in such a way that a business plant comes to town, not because it has been offered a bonus, but because it believes that the city offers the best advantages for its growth."

"It seems to me," added the barber, "that Kingston is bound to grow and develop when every resident adopts the slogan, 'Be a Booster, not a Knocker, and then lives up to it.'"

THE STROLLER.

Lioness Fought a Motorcar.

The East African Standard describes a duel between a motorcar and a lioness. The affair, it says, happened at night near Nairobi. The chauffeur noted a commotion in the bush near the road, then the gleaming eyes of an enraged wild animal. He accelerated his speed at the instant the lioness leaped. She struck the hood and was thrown far in advance of the car, whose wheels then passed over her. The dead lioness was finally loaded into the car and taken back to the town in triumph.—From Outlook.

As He Saw It.

During a discourse on individuality as expressed in the countenance, a schoolmaster held up a portrait of Charles Dickens. "Here," said he, "is the face of a celebrated author and man of genius. Do you see anything particularly noticeable about the features?" "Yes," replied one of the brightest scholars, "a lot of whiskers!"

PETER BOICE SUSTAINS STROKE

While at work Monday afternoon in the office of the Hudson River Bluestone Company on the Strand in Poughkeepsie, Peter Boice, for many years bookkeeper and clerk, sustained a stroke. He was removed to his home, No. 19 Abruzzo street, and a physician summoned. Mr. Boice is 79 years old, but has always enjoyed the best of health and been active and vigorous, and appeared much younger than he really was. He had walked home to dinner that day, and when he left for work appeared in the best of health. While his condition is serious, hopes are held for his ultimate recovery. Mr. Boice's host of friends were shocked to hear of his sudden illness. A rather strange coincidence is the fact that Mrs. Hasbrouck Alliger, who resides in the adjoining house, sustained a stroke recently, which, in her case, resulted fatally.

FORM NEW BOY SCOUT COUNCIL

Will Comprise Leading Men of County—To be Eight Troops Here—Employment Bureau at Headquarters.

Within a few weeks a new Boy Scout Council, composed of the leading men of the county, representing civic, business, educational, religious, philanthropic and all other interests will be formed to further the Boy Scout movement in Ulster county. The former council, composed of Kingston representatives only, has been discontinued for in the future the work will cover the entire county and every district will have a representative on the council.

Every troop organized and to be organized will receive a number from the local headquarters. Mr. Merrill, the Scout executive, states that Troops 1 to 8 inclusive, will be located in Kingston. Troop 9 is at Saugerties. Troop 10 is located at Woodstock.

An employment bureau for Boy Scouts will be in operation after June 20 at the Boy Scout headquarters, 460 Broadway. All business firms desiring boys during the summer months should notify the Scout Executive.

The American flag presented to the local Scouts on Flag Day by the Kingston Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution is now flying in front of the building. Scout Chauncey Zeilman of Troop 1 has been given the honor of raising and lowering it each day.

The budget for this body for the fiscal year was set at $1,340,500. The New York and New England Synod's share in this is $41,710. The amount was apportioned on a three fold basis, namely, continued membership, local expenses and benevolences.

'CAP'N' EZRA RILED

Ancient Mariner Has Trying Day in Boston Town.

And He Will Find Many to Agree With Him in His Positive Assertion That "Umbrellas Is Dangerous Weapons."

I heard a sigh behind me as I unfolded my favorite evening sheet. Someone settled into the seat and rested wearily against me. I exhaled myself from my sheet and stole a side-long glance. In the little leathery man with the nervous bit of chin whiskers I recognized Cap'n Ezra Goldskins of our town.

His mild blue eye caught mine and I wished him good evening. He replied with another sigh and the cryptic remark, "Umbrellas is dangerous weapons." Then, like another and better known Ancient Mariner, he seemed unable to contain himself and launched forth into the subject that was torturing his soul.

This is the captain's plaint: "I come into town this mornin' bearin' no man any malice. It looked like rain, but I didn't calculate to let that spoil my good nature. Most everyone but me was totin' a umbrella. I was bumpin' along in the crowd leavin' the station an' just at the entrance I was surrounded by five fat old ladies who was so interested in decidin' where they was goin' to meet for lunch that they didn't notice that I was standin' in the middle of the conference an' gettin' the benefit of all the emphasis of the pointin' they did with their umbrellas."

"A lady pointin' one direction with a parasol wants to look where's she's a-pointin'."

"I squeeze out of there just in time to get gouged in the high leg by a young feller that carried his umbrella strapped to the side of his valise. He gave me a nasty look for bein' there."

I started up the street and see a feller ahead of me carryin' his umbrella over his shoulder like a musket. He turned to look into a store window and bumped a old man into the side of the head with the muzzle of his weapon. They had some words.

"A young girl that looked bright enough to know better was carryin' her umbrella in the middle and talkin' so fast at the same time I guess she didn't know she was proddin' folks both ahead and behind as though she might be sayin' 'Get up, Jessie; go 'long, Bill!'"

"A tall feller with a black ribbon on his eye glasses was whirlin' his slim umbrella around by the handle, thereby gettin' most of the sidewalk and a lot of unfavorable opinion for himself. He varied this a little by usin' it as a cane, swingin' it well out in front and behind. Every once in a while it swung into some one's shanks or stabbed 'em in the instep. He sure had the comfort an' safety of other folks in mind."

"People used 'em as wedges to get into the crowd and as a pry to get out. One young feller I see was standin' on the edge of the sidewalk, leanin' back on his umbrella and talkin' to a friend of his'n. Some feller goin' along mindin' his own business caught his toe in it and brought the lad down at neat as a ninepin."

"Now if he had a had his umbrella hangin' down straight from his hand the way it should ha' been an' been goin' about his business instead of blockin' up the sidewalk he wouldn't a had to go home and changed his breeches."

"The trouble is that folks who carry a umbrella so it didn't interfere with anybody else is generally the ones that gets jabbed."

"I ain't got the heart to speak of umbrellas when folks carries 'em raised. There is worse than dangerous then; they is positively deadly. I been dodgin' careless and thoughtless handlers of umbrellas all day and in the hands of them class of people that is a dangerous weapon. Yes, sir, umbrellas is a dangerous weapon."—Boston Globe.

Notes Issued by Austrians.

A correspondent writes that Austrian notes were not the only "duds" that caused trouble and loss to the allies. Every British soldier who served on the western front must have had experience (he says) of these pretty Belgian notes which were not worth the paper they were printed on, for the reason that the enemy were in control of the Belgian national banks. "It was never safe," (he adds) "to accept change for a hundred franc note or other note of high denomination without examining each small bill given in lieu. One was almost sure to come across one or two nice clean Belgian franc notes hidden away among the genuine French stuff."

For Sale.

He had determined to "mop up"—not in the sense, however, that one thinks of these days. He had seen a mop such as he desired advertised for 25 cents (original price $1.50), and made haste to get one, for he had also determined to buy nothing unless it was "on sale." The mop cost 25 cents, a handle 10 cents extra, a bottle of polish was added for good measure. He proceeded to drop the bottle, and as the mop without the polish was useless, it was necessary to buy another bottle, which set him back 50 cents. The bargain cost him $1.00 instead of 25 cents, as he had pictured. However, he is still determined to beat the H. C. L.

Why He Preferred Girls.

Willard is fond of playing with several little girls in the neighborhood and, on being questioned regarding preference for girls, remarked: "Well, the girls never fight like the boys do, they only argue."

Deputy Supdt. Public Works.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Albany, N. Y., June 17.—State Superintendent of Public Works Watch this afternoon announced the appointment of James E. Doyle, managing editor of the Syracuse Herald, as deputy superintendent. Mr. Doyle qualified. The office pays $5,500 a year.

Trinity Church, Ward.

According to the New York city records, Trinity church obtained the site by a deed from the king of England. It was known as the King's domain. Later the largest tract of land owned by the Trinity church, known as the Queen's land, came into the hands of that corporation by gift. Therefore we have no original owners to trace and date the English, save only the Dutch government and the Indians from whom the Dutch bought Manhattan Island.

Tattoo Marks.

It is usually impossible to remove such marks without leaving a permanent scar. One method is to tattoo the skin with a concentrated solution of tannin, following the original design. Then apply a cauter of silver nitrate until the skin turns black. Wipe off the excess of cauter and allow the cauter to eat into the skin. There will be pain and redness, but the marks will gradually disappear.

Back Yard Orchard Sure to Bring as Good Returns as Does the Vegetable Garden

The back yard orchard will make as valuable a return for the average family as does the vegetable garden itself. Everyone who puts out a garden can just as well be growing a small home orchard in it, according to J. C. Whitten of the University of Missouri College of Agriculture. The cultivation given the vegetables is just what is required by the young trees.

Select apples, cherries, plums, peaches and pears of varieties that will furnish a succession from the early Richmond cherry, which ripens in May, to the late-keeping apples, like Ingram and Lansingburg, which keep until the following May. One tree of each variety is enough.

Apple trees should be planted 25 to 30 feet apart each way, and plum and peach trees 18 to 20 feet apart. One-year-old trees should be selected for planting, although in the case of the apple, sour cherry and pear two-year-old trees will usually transplant successfully if they have not grown too large. The trees may be planted either in fall or spring. They should be set just about as deep as they stood in the nursery. As soon as they are planted the tops should be pruned back somewhat.

Fruit trees should be given as thorough cultivation as corn or vegetables, at least until they reach bearing age. Any kind of garden vegetables, or strawberries, or other small fruits, may be grown between the tree rows. If a rank-growing crop like corn grows higher than the trees one row should be left out, preferably north and south. In the tree row, so that the fruit trees will not be shaded until they are well established. Low-growing vegetables or berries may be planted as close to the trees as desired.

Dots Miller Arrives Home From Army Duty in France and Joins the Cardinals

After spending nearly a year and a half with the marines in France, Dots Miller, one of the really capable ball players of the major leagues, has arrived home. He attended a few banquets and then hiked for St. Louis to join the Cardinals.

Miller was one of the first ball players to enlist and saw service almost

Sun the Universal Clock. But It Was Always Wrong

From the beginning the sun was the universal clock, and the universal clock was always wrong that is to say, twelve o'clock today was not exactly the same as twelve o'clock yesterday. But the sun had to serve as a clock to most people until little more than a hundred and fifty years ago, when public clocks took the place of sun dials and watches began to be comparatively common. Doubtless one of the earliest forms of getting somewhere near the hour was by length of shadow, an upright stick or spear, or even the erect form of the man telling himself, serving as a natural gnomon. Even today, all over the far East, the only clocks in many, and indeed, in most places, is the shadow which is obtained after one or other of these methods.

Creed That May Well Be Applied in Life Each Day

To live content with small means. To seek elegance rather than luxury and refinement rather than fashion. To be worthy, not respectable; wealthy, not rich. To study hard, think quietly, talk gently, act frankly. To listen to stars and birds, to bells and seas, with open heart; to hear all cheerfully, to all bravely, await occasion, busy or idle. In a word, to let the spiritual, unbroken and unconfused, grow up through the common. This is to be my symphony.—William Ellery Channing.

Smaller Farms.

In Prussia, Germany, Holland and even in Great Britain is a slight extent, there has been in the last half century a generalization of small farms. The number of small farms has increased instead of declined; and at the same time the present have gained in prosperity and ease of life. In our own country a similar increase in small holdings has occurred. The average farm has been reduced in size from 200 acres to 135 acres.

in "THE FEAR WOMAN" AN EMOTIONAL DRAMA OF THE WOMAN WHO DARED

What living person can stand up and say unflinchingly that he or she is not haunted by some gripping fear?—A fear that grows with every minute of the day and follows everywhere like a black shadow, dimming the sunshine of life—a fear that makes every minute of the night one of frozen terror—a fear that drenches with cold perspiration and numbs all sense of reason? What was the FEAR that made Helen Winthrop flee from the altar at the crucial moment—away from the man she loved most? What UNSHACKLED her fear and led her back to her lover and eternal happiness?

He left his home on the S. S. Glenadale which was built in Portland, Oregon. "The sights on that ship," said Luthile, "were indescribable. We visited Honolulu, Kahului, Waikuku, Balboa, and Panama City. We passed through the Panama Canal, stopped at Colon, Cuba, Haiti and thence to New York. I have seen sea turtles, pelicans, alligators and flying fish along with hundreds of tropical fruits and fruits. ## C. OF C. TEAMS WORK FOR QUOTA

"I have come to love Kingston," he said, "and I believe you all do. In closing I want to leave just two words with you—For Kingston."

Mayor Canfield was the second speaker. The mayor certified to all that Secretary Hudson said about the Chamber of Commerce co-operating with the city, especially in the proposition of eliminating the West Shore crossing. This work, the mayor said, is as much as the Chamber of Commerce is now asking the people to contribute. Messrs. Herbert, Hudson, Fowler, O'Connor, Bannan and Powley, he explained, have hammered at the proposition giving the city much benefit of their judgment and the knowledge they received in visiting other cities where grade crossings had been eliminated. The mayor also corroborated Secretary Hudson in the need of the harbor canal terminal. He said that he did not believe the people fully appreciated what a terminal would mean for the city. If developed as it should be, he said, it would give the city a harbor such as no other city had, making it possible for coast vessels to come here in a short time.

It was in closing that Mayor Canfield dared and defied Division B to secure more members for the Chamber of Commerce than Division A, of which the mayor is the general. William J. Turck, general of Division B, accepted the challenge, and assured the mayor that he would have a difficult task in beating his division. Mr. Turck said that he believed President Herbert was too modest in asking for at least 500 members. The speaker said that at least 700 members would be secured, and that inasmuch as his division would secure 350 members, Mayor Canfield's forces would have to secure 351 to defeat him. Mr. Turck announced that the Universal Road Machine Company, which had been started by foreign capital some time ago, was now entirely controlled by men in Kingston and Kingston capitalists. He pointed to it as one of the big successes in Kingston.

Instructions in carrying on the drive were given by Chief of Staff Frances L. Thornberry. He urged them to throw themselves in to the work with enthusiasm. On being questioned he announced that women were eligible to membership in the chamber and that a number had already affiliated themselves with the organization. Joseph M. Bruton also made a few remarks, calling attention to the necessity of a Chamber of Commerce in the development of a city, and told of the courtesy and help that had been given to him by Secretary Hudson and other officials of the local organization.

During the days of the campaign the workers will meet at the Y. M. C. A. every evening at 6:30 o'clock. The dinner will be served promptly at this hour. Mr. Thornberry announced, tomorrow George A. Mosser, who has been a Chamber of Commerce secretary for the past ten years, will speak.

At the close of the meeting last night three cheers were given for President Herbert.

Gift to Library.

The city library has recently received a gift from Rev. J. W. Hillman of the bibliography of Andrew D. White in two volumes. Many people will be interested to read this book at the present time. Andrew D. White was a diplomat and a man interested in public affairs. He was ambassador to Russia under President Harrison and to Germany under President McKinley, and was president of Cornell University for some years. He was a man of wisdom and insight and his story is told with considerable literary skill.

Natural Curiosity.

Nature has placed one of her curiosities on the location of a former sugar mill on the island of Trinidad. The plant has since been reduced to ruins and is overgrown with vegetation. The old solid chimney is intact and up through its center one of the quick growing trees of the tropics has sprung, spreading its branches out of the top of the huge chimney and is now in full bloom.

As to Democracy. If democracy means that any man may help who can, that school and university will give every man and woman the fairest chance, the most generous inducement to help, in doing the thing he can best do under the best conditions, then, yes, but if democracy means getting up a riot and burning down the stupid and lazy and illiterate whenever anything is doing, then I say no.—H. G. Wells.

Enjoyment Spoiled. A little girl's mother had just bought her a bright red coat which she had never worn. There being a death in the family her mother dressed her and decided it was best to wear such a bright coat, so put on an old black one. As the child noticed this she began to cry and said, "If I can't wear my new coat I can't have a good time at the funeral."

First Daily Paper. "March 11th was the anniversary of the birth of the first daily paper in England, to wit, the Daily Courant," says the London Morning Post. "It was issued in the year 1702, by E. Mallet, against the Dutch in Fleet Street," and it was evidently one of the worthy members that he was the earliest journalist to show any jealousy for an accurate statement of fact.
